This scholarship was established in celebration of Dr. Elil Yuvarajan's 50th birthday. The scholarship name comes from the initials of his three children. A proud graduate of Fargo North High School, Dr. Elil has gone on to become a psychologist and professor dedicated to improving the lives of others. In honor of his milestone birthday, his family created this scholarship to support future graduates in pursuing higher education.

Dr. Yuvarajan's life and career have been defined by service, compassion, and a commitment to helping others. This scholarship is intended for a student who shares those same values and aspirations—someone who not only seeks to attend college but also aims to make a lasting positive impact on their community.

Application Requirements:

- Fargo North High School graduating senior
- Demonstrated academic achievement
- Demonstrated financial need
- Commitment to helping others through community service, leadership, or a future career in a helping field
- All intended post-secondary majors are welcome; preference may be given to students pursuing psychology, education, social work, or healthcare.

Please answer the following questions on a separate sheet:

1. Please list any academic achievements
2. Please share how the cost of your education affects you and how this scholarship would help reduce those challenges.
3. Describe how you have made a positive impact on others through your actions, volunteer work, or personal experiences. How do you hope to continue helping others through your future education and career?
